cross country riding to hounds they have had no equal. Virginia saddlers have ranked on equality with those from the Blue Grass State, and the distinguished author Riders of Many Lands has paid high tribute to Virginia horses and incidentally to Virginia horsemen.

Though this was the condition from the first, the ravages of war and the inreads of the locomotive caused somewhat of a decadence in the breeding of fine horses in the old State. But that the old blood was the old State. But that the old blood was not extinct has recently been abundantly evidenced and to-day Virginia horses car-ry off the palm in contests with the best blood of all States and all countries. This is true not only of the hunters and jump-ers, but of hackneys, roadsters and heavy

GREAT IMPETUS.

A great impetus has been given to the breeding of fine horses within very recent years by the annual horse shows through-out the State, at which thousands of dollars are given away in premiums and where the exhibits of fine horseflesh and in size and in numbers, and this year the circuit has been larger than ever before Reginning with the Upperville Show which, by the way, is the oldest in the country, the association having begun back in the fifties, there have been fine exhibits at Leesburg, Manassas, Orange, Charlottesville, Winchester, Front Royal, Harrisonburg and Berryville. The circuit is not closed and there are yet to be seen the Warrenton, Richmond and Lynchburg unfortunate destruction by fire of their building, have set to work and a new and better one is now being erected. The entry list is a long one, and some of the best horses of the country will be seen here in the fall under the flare of electric lights and the still more dazzling light of beauty's eyes.

And after the Virginia circuit of shows has closed many of the horses that have borne off the ribbons will go to the New York show, where, doubtless, as in years past, they will uphold the reputation of Virginia as the breeding-place of fine Virginia as the breeding-place of fine horses. Among the horses that have carried off honers in the northern shows are Amaret, the handsome bay gelding large roan belonging to his wife, and Buck, a Virginia-bred horse, the prop-Buck was bred by Mr. Harry Beattie, and he has shown him at many of the big shows.

BEAT THE CHAMPION.

At the Atlantic City show a year ago Buck, as well as Amaret, had the honor of beating the world's champion jumper, Heatherbloom, in a high jumping con-test. The jump was five feet nine inches, though all the winners have gone over higher timber. Heatherbloom, who is ridden by his owner, Dashing Dick Donnelly, has an official record of having cleared the bars at the wonderful height of seven feet two inches. He has a record that is unofficial but well vouched for of having jumped even consid-ed for of having jumped even considerably higher.

Amaret won the blue ribbon at the show here last fall, clearing six feet one inch perfectly. Charley Hurkamp, who schooled the great jumper, rode him. Both Amaret and Buck take a delight in their performances, and become almost crazed with excitement when they see the tall hurdle which they are to And when the plaudits of the crowd fol-low their pretty performance they evince

What the Aldermen Are Doing for Fulton.

THE FIGHT OVER DISPENSARY

Mr. Huff to Move to Barton Heights The Week's Happenings at Highland Springs, East Richmond, Fulton Park, and Ashland.

All three of the Aldermen from Marshall Ward have been very active looking after the interest of the ward since they took their seats in July. Some of the things they have accomplished and have in mind are these:.

Alderman Washer, as a member of the Light Committee, has had about fifteen gas-lights erected in the dargest parts of the ward. He is now working to have the Chesapeake and Ohio to complete the ordinance passed two years ago com-pelling them to open Russell Street from Orleans to Nicholson Street, in place of Third Street, which was allowed to be closed in order to run the beautiful clay embankments through Fulton, and also compelling them to complete the unsightly embankments. He is also working to enlarge the police force.

Alderman Satterfield is now busy with the free dispensary of Fulton, which will be a God-send to the poor of this section, who now have to go to Twentyfirst and Main Streets for their pre-

The residents of Fulton will petition Postmaster Knight to have the five o'clock delivery of mail include the resi-dential section as well as the business At present there are only two deliveries in that section—9 and 1 o'clock.

A letter mailed in that section in the morning after 9 o'clock is not delivered until next morning. FIGHT OVER DISPENSARY.

At the meeting of the Committee on the Relief of the Poor on Monday atternoon a warm fight, in which Fulton is deeply interested, will crop out. The committee will name the drug store at which the free dispensary for the East End will be located. End will be located.

Messrs. A. R. McCalley and R. L. Har-rison, the two druggists of Fulton, are both fighting hard for the dispensity. Friends of both are working night and day.

At last, after one year of waiting, the remnants of the old wooden trestle of the Chesapeake and Ohio across Nicholson Street has been removed. The trestle has been a menace to life and an eye-sore ever since the viaduct was com-pleted. The credit is due to two people— Policeman James Hackett and Alderman John Mann, of Marshall Ward. Police-man Hackett said last night that he had

She had tried physician after physician, and remedy after remedy, with-out any permanent improvement. Her treatment had cost her husband, who was a poor man, hundreds of dollars. They had been obliged to deny themselves many comforts of life in order to get money enough to pay the physicians.

Yet, in spite of all economy there was a small mortgage on their property be-cause of the expense her illness had brought upon them.

Ficking up the paper one day she happened to read an item which contained the news that Dr. Hartment would treat such cases free of charge by letter. She immediately wrote the doctor describing her case, and giving him all her symptoms.

She soon received a letter telling her exactly what to do, and what medicated. exactly what to do, and what medi-cines and appliances to get. She began the treatment (the principle remedy being Peruna) at once, and in a few weeks she was well and strong again, able to do her own work. This offer of free home treatment to women is still open to all who may need the services of this eminent physician. All letters applying for treatment will

The Norfolk Ledger reviews at length the Rev. Dr. Crawford's lame "explana tion." Among other things, the Ledger

"It seems to us passing strange that a man of Rev. Dr. Crawford's intelligence doesn't see that the fact that he could prove that many people in Amherst county had suggested very bad conduct on the part of Judge Campbell would never justify him, Crawford, in repeating in his paper, or elsewhere, the suggestion of corruption, unless he could prove the corruption itself. His being able to prove that the people of Amherst county were saying this, that or the other about somebody, could not possibly cut any figure in the ethical question at issue. viz., the right of one man to accuse another by suggestion, without any proof on which to base the accusation. His line of reasoning would give him the right to repeat any slander, no matter how un-founded, which other people might be willing to suggest-if he could only prove that some one besides himself started
